OVERVIEW

HazTek provides many services to help foster a safer environment for a globally successful construction services company. They are a leading builder in diverse market segments and known for undertaking complex projects, embracing new technologies, and making a difference to their clients.

This construction services company prides themselves on being a large company with local resources, and one of those local resources is HazTek's safety expertise. We have provided on-site Safety Advisors, developed Job Safety Analyses (JSAs), worked on OSHA record keeping, and offered Hazardous Waste Operations and Emergency Response (HAZWOPER) trainings.

Over the years, HazTek has expanded the geographic reach of our work on this company's sites. Our Safety Professionals provide services on projects across the U.S., including Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington, DC. We have worked in many different settings for this company, including banks, hospitals, car dealerships, and pharmaceutical sites. Our expert team of Safety Professionals bring vast experience, so they are highly adaptable for work on all different site settings.

UNIQUE HIGHLIGHTS

Starting in July 2020, HazTek provided COVID temperature screenings for one of the construction services company's projects working on a federal building in Philadelphia. Our safety expertise helped them provide a healthy and safe environment for everyone on their project site. We also helped develop COVID safety plans for other projects for this client. Because of our successful history of keeping their sites safe, the company trusted us during a fearful time.
